Parade Showcases Rochester's Best

By Nick Walecka

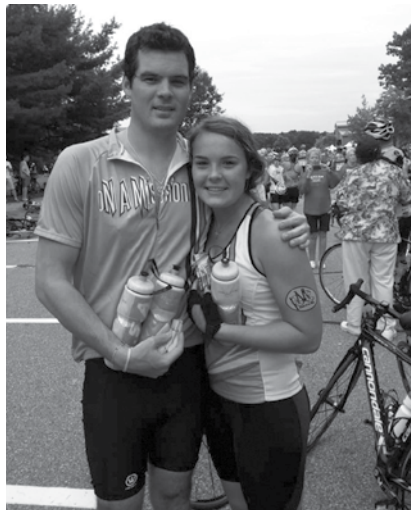

The route has changed, but the turnout at the parade for the annual Rochester Country Fair remained true to years past with solid attendance that featured 52 farm tractors, several floats, several classic cars, a go-cart, a military Jeep and numerous other vehicles.

Hundreds of spectators lined the streets to get a peek at the procession, which Event Co-Organizer Julie Koczera said was still in an experimental phase after moving the fair from Plumb Corner before last year's event.

"We're still on a trial basis – we still might change some things," said Koczera as the parade was ending Sunday morning. Though changes may still be in the works, Koczera said that this year's version could be considered a success.

Fair Committee member Bev Pierce noted that several different aspects of the parade are key to making it special, with several notable entrants being near the top of that list.

Siblings Zach and Abbey Smith are members of Team oN A Mission, a cycling squad founded by Sarah Marchisio to memorialize her late mother, Nancy, and comprised mostly of Tri-Town residents who recently completed the Pan Mass Challenge to raise money for cancer research. Facebook Fun Friday

Each week we give you a chance to win great stuff on our Facebook page. Check us out at www.facebook.com/wanderer and keep an eye out for the Friday post each week.

Congratulations to:

who won last week's Facebook Fun Friday!

This week we'll have a pair of King Richard's Fair tickets to Give Away!

"We had some very interesting entrants this year," Pierce said, which included a bone-biting jungle-man on one of a few of the safari-inspired floats to go with this year's "Welcome to the Jungle"-themed fair, as well as a float with musical act The Relics, among several other notables. Pierce said she even saw a man in an green inflatable suit that had climbed a tree to get a good view of everything the parade had to offer.

At the top of Pierce's list were the volunteers, who she said had been working hard around the clock to ensure that everything at the fair, including the parade, went smoothly. She said that they even had two families of volunteers staying in campers on the grounds to assure that someone was always there to handle any problems that might arise.

"We don't let them out of the gate," she said.

Several awards were given out for some of the best parade entrants, with Best Farm Tractor going to Michael Brodeur for his 2013 John Deere 6190R, Best Antique Vehicle going to Steven Manchester for his 1931 Chevy Coupe, Best Jungle-Themed Float going to George Rogers of Middleboro, and Best Military Vehicle to Scott Snider for his 1951 M38 Jeep.

Best Municipal Vehicle went to Rochester's Fire Engine 1, Best Commercial Vehicle went to Shawn Foley for a 1980 Extended Hood "Hearse." Most Original went to Nancy Boutin for her VW Bug Jungle Float, and Most

Local Pan Massers Pedal Against Cancer

By Nick Walecka

When first-time rider Zach Smith of Rochester prepared for the 197-mile Pan Mass bike ride across most of the state of Massachusetts in support of the Jimmy Fund and Dana Farber, he didn't really know what to expect.

"The weekend started off with mixed emotions," said Smith, who joined the locally based Team oN A Mission for the ride. "As I headed to Sturbridge on Friday night, I wasn't sure what I was getting myself into as a first-time rider – but I was excited for the journey."

If Smith was at first unsure about his decision to ride from western Massachusetts to the tip of the Cape in Provincetown, his conscience was finally put at ease somewhere around Dennis, about midway through the team's second and final day on the road.

"There was a girl, about seven or eight, holding a poster-board with a hole cut out of the middle where she put her face through," Smith said. "The sign said something to the effect of 'I'm a survivor because you're doing this.' After seeing that, I realized I'll be riding in the Pan Mass for many years to come."

Most of the members of Team oN A Mission, who raised $16,770 in last year's event, are from the Tri-Town area, including Sarah Marchisio, a friend of Smith's, who started the team in memory of her mother Nancy (the N-A-M in the team's name), who passed away from cancer in 2010. After going out to support Marchisio last year (who was riding with only one friend at the time), Smith and his sister Abbey, a friend of Sarah's, decided to

That list now includes: Marchisio's brother Chris, Haydon Bergeron, Nolan Bergeron, Kaitlyn O'Brien, Amanda White of Rochester, Colbey Stabell of Marion, Cam Severino of Mattapoisett, Kate Peucker (who started the team with Marchisio, along with Bill Tilden of Marion, who is the Athletic Director at Old Rochester Regional High School).

Smith said that the ride was an honor because of the different people involved, whether survivors or supporters of the fight against cancer.

"It was truly an amazing experience riding for a cause with so many inspiring people," he said. "Seeing the ones who have battled and are still battling cancer took all of the pain away."

Abbey said that she and the team owe a lot of credit to Sarah and Chris for all they've been through and continue to do, as well as just for being great, positive people all around.

"They really show to the community what strength looks like," she said. "There hasn't been a time when I was with them that they were not smiling."

Each member of Team oN A Mission set a personal goal of $4,300 to donate with a grand total of $51,600 for the team, and while Zach Smith has not yet raised his full share, he's still committed to reaching that goal. He said that anyone who wishes to donate to his or his team's cause could visit his fundraising page for more information.

"I cannot thank the supporters, my family and friends who were with me the whole way," said Smith. "This disease has affected everyone in one way or another, and I am asking for any help I can get in achieving my fundraising goal. Any amount helps!"

Grange Fair Still Going Strong

By Nick Walecka

"As far as we know, it's been 103 years for this fair," said Grange Secretary Susan Lafleur on Saturday afternoon around 1:00 pm, just as the annual Rochester Grange Fair was getting under way.

The Grange Fair, which normally occurs the same weekend as the larger Rochester Country Fair, awards ribbons and cash prizes to entrants in categories such as best vegetables, baked goods, flower arrangements, needlework, photos, paintings and conservation collections made by local children that consist of natural things like bugs, seashells and leaves.

All of the entries were displayed around the large room inside the 107-year old Grange Hall, and by Saturday morning, the ribbons had been awarded and were ready to be handed out.

Though it doesn't draw the number of people that the Country Fair does, the Grange Fair is still a hit with a small community of locals both young and old.

"We're hanging in," Susan said. "People come back every year. There's a pretty steady core that likes to come for the fun of it."

That fun also consists of a ham and bean supper that's been held every year for the past decade, and after dinner, there's an auction consisting of many things displayed in the room, and the ribbons and prizes are awarded.

"We don't have big crowds, but the people that come enjoy bidding against their buddies," said Susan.

Lafleur said that back in the 1950s, the Grange Fair was three days long and there were horse pulls and other events, but they weren't able to keep some of those traditions alive.

"Now, it's kind of hard to do that stuff," she said.

Susan's husband, Herbert Lafleur, is the Grange Fair Chairman, and as the fair started Saturday afternoon, he was still running around Rochester and the property, meticulously making sure everything was in place for the day's events.

"There's a lot of natural stuff here," said Herb as he was on his way to the market to pick up some last minute items for the day. "I hope people like it."

Susan said that a lot of the gardeners associated with the Grange and the fair said they hadn't enjoyed the best summer because of the heat waves and dramatic changes in weather over the last few months, but they still were able to get some nice vegetables and flower arrangements entered.

"What they got came out good," she said. "It wasn't the best year garden-wise is what they're saying, but we've got it covered."

It seems that even though there are a lot of things working against a place like the Rochester Grange, the group still works hard to ensure that a tradition stays in place.

"There aren't that many grange fairs around these days," Susan said.

Marion Town Party Promises Fun

By Shawn Badgley

Steve Gonsalves can hardly contain himself. As an organizer of the Marion Town Party and one of Marion's leading public servants, Gonsalves is brimming with enthusiasm during a conversation about the 2013 edition of the event, taking place on Saturday, August 24, from 4:00 to 10:00 pm on Spring Street in front of the Town House.

"It's so great to have all of these organizations involved in an event that is solely about the community," he said. "This is for the townspeople. That's why we keep the food so inexpensive, for instance, as excellent as it is. We want you to be able to take your family and actually be able to afford it."

The Marion Town Party – which has existed in one form or another since the late 1800s – is sponsored by the Marion Recreation Department, the Marion Firefighters Association, and the Marion Police Brotherhood, supported by the help of several local businesses. The event was formerly handled by the VFW, who stay involved by running the bar (which will offer beer, wine and soda).

The menu will include burgers, hot dogs, sausage, seafood and more. Gonsalves said that organizers invite bakers to bring as many goods as they'd like for a table devoted to pastry, cakes, pies, cookies and breads.

The Marion Town Party is the place to be for chowhounds, and also for children, who can look forward to such features as a climbing rock wall, a dunk tank, and a bubble bounce obstacle course so large, said Gonsalves, that organizers "are still looking for a place to put it on Saturday."

The festivities will also include a 50-50 raffle, an auction, a plant table for fall gardeners, a DJ with "dancing in the streets," and a bonfire behind the Town House.

"People really enjoyed that last year," Gonsalves

When asked what the Marion Town Party means to him and his fellow residents, Gonsalves didn't hesitate.

SSAC Takes on Digital Learning

By Renae Reints

What is SSAC? Just another mundane government acronym? Well, yes and no. SSAC is the State Student Advisory Council. It is a government council, but it's far from mundane. SSAC is made up of over 60 peer-elected students from Massachusetts's five regions: Southeast, Greater Boston, Northeast, Central and Western. Altogether, this diverse group of high school students represents the entire student population in Massachusetts – a number around one million.

Furthermore, SSAC is unique in the United States. No other state has a student advisory council in which a student chairman is elected by his or her peers to sit as a voting member of the state's Board of Education. This year, Daniel Brogan from Dennis-Yarmouth Regional High School was elected as Chairman.

Advisory Council, I was elected to be one of the state delegates serving on SSAC. Last year, SSAC helped with the state's new lunch nutrition plan and with implementing the state's new teacher evaluation process, which now includes student feedback. This year, we decided to address Massachusetts's slow advancement in digital learning.

Earlier this month, SSAC held its annual three-day leadership conference at the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education in Malden, where the group also holds its bimonthly meetings throughout the school year. The conference was to prepare this year's SSAC for the upcoming school year. There are a lot of discussions to have and decisions to be made before one can start improving the education of a million students.

Throughout the three-day conference, we did team-building activities, discussed potential changes in our SSAC bylaws, and filled the room with educational energy. Most importantly, we discussed what kind of impacts we wished to make throughout the year, and how we could go about turning these wishes into tangible results.

We listened to five presentations on topics we could focus on as a council. We had a choice of digital learning, teacher evaluations, PARCC (the potential replacement to English and math MCAS), college and career readiness, or nutrition. After many questions and ensuing discussions, a vote was held to choose SSAC's 2013-2014 priorities.

This year, SSAC will be focusing on digital learning throughout Massachusetts. We hope to provide research to the Office of Digital Learning on which schools are successful and which are struggling. We also plan to raise awareness of digital learning and technology use in the classroom.

After a successful conference, SSAC is excited to get to work once the school year begins. The first meeting will be held at the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education on September 17.

We All Scream for ...

This Mattapoisett Life

By Marilou Newell

What melts in your mouth and also your hand, is the number one dessert consumed by New Englanders over all other choices, and is a must-have for any birthday party? Okay, so it was an easy question – ice cream, of course. The Northeast buys more ice cream from retail outlets than any other part of the country. No one knows exactly why we have this love affair with the cold confection. Perhaps our long, miserable winters cause us to seek something sweet, even if it means shoveling inches of snow away from the front door. We just don't care. I scream, you scream, we all scream for ice cream!

My life would be so empty without the nearly daily dose of ice cream I must have during the summer months. Today, for example, I shared a large peanut butter Oreo cookie mountain with my husband. Yesterday, it was vanilla soft serve. I'm not discriminating in the type of ice cream I love to eat. I like both soft serve and traditional hard pack versions. Eating ice cream after taking the pup for a stroll around the Village, or driving long distances to have a cone of something wonderful at a homemade ice cream stand is bliss, joy and all things good combined: nirvana.

We humans have developed a craving for sugar-based foods. That is a given. It isn't my fault; it isn't your fault; let's blame pre-historic man, if that is possible. In preparing to write this article, I researched the development of taste, the salt and sugar receptors in the tongue, the role of smell in our food choices and similar scientific data. I was overwhelmed with how much information there actually is on the topic. And I was further led down the "guilty as charged" trail when I learned that I'm probably responsible for my son's and grandchildren's zealous lust of all things sweet. I'm sorry, kids, I didn't know any better.

The simple truth is that you can't write about ice cream and expect to come up smelling like a nutritionist no matter how much yogurt, nuts, fruits and berries you add to the mixture. So I abandoned that angle and went in

DOGS AND PICKUP TRUCKS

My dog loves to ride in the cargo area of our pickup truck. He is a big dog with a heavy coat. My question is how cold is too cold to let him travel in the back?

I fear that you may be worried about garter snakes in a rattle snake pit. Hundreds of dogs die annually from jumps from pickup truck cargo beds. Dogs see another dog and want to play, they lean over the edge too far or are thrown out during an emergency avoidance maneuver or accident. Fractured legs are also common.

If you must keep the dog in the cargo bed consider a cap. It will provide safety from jumping as well as windchill.

The temperature that can be tolerated by any specific dog varies massively and depends to a large degree on acclimation. A dog that is kept outdoors in a dog house will be able to stand much colder conditions for longer than a housepet.

for the sheer delight factor. Ice cream tastes good. We love it and have learned over vast eons of time how to create sweet delicious tastes like ice cream.

As a kid growing up, ice cream was a special treat, not something that was regularly purchased and stored in the freezer. We didn't have a freezer and an icebox wouldn't keep ice cream frozen for very long. So, ice cream was something to be cherished and enjoyed only as a special treat.

Birthdays always included a cake (yes, you may recall my mother enjoyed convenience cooking, so our birthday cakes were from packages), and our favorite flavor of ice cream. In the summer, we'd take a ride to either Dainty Maid Ice Cream or Howard Johnson's, both located in East Wareham back in the 1950s, or Gulf Hill Dairy (known today as Oxford Creamery) for a cone of something wonderful. How I loved to see that billboard with the 3D cows protruding from it. It had to be the coolest sign ever to a kid.

The most adventurous flavors back then would have been ice creams like maple walnut, chocolate chip, frozen pudding, grapenut and maybe rocky road. But honestly, I never heard of rocky road until I was an adult. We were happy with vanilla, chocolate and strawberry with possibly chocolate sprinkles. You might be interested to know that today, in spite of all the flavors available, vanilla reigns supreme at numero uno over all the others. The fragrance and taste of vanilla is intoxicating.

The Old Farmers' Almanac tells us that as far back as 54 A.D., Roman emperors were sending their slaves into the mountains to bring back ice. The ice would be mixed with honey and fruit pulp for a sherbet-like concoction. Many decades later, historical records from China document "ice men" being deployed into the mountainsides to collect ice for the palaces. The rulers craved a treat that incorporated fermented milk, flour and camphor with the ice. That doesn't sound anywhere near as appealing as what the Romans were eating, but taste is very subjective, isn't it?

The history of ice cream continues through the ages. Our early colonists brought recipes with them from Europe, which also blended ice and fruits. Famous for many things, President Washington's 1782 inventory of personal effects lists a "cream machine" for ice. In 1843, Nancy Johnson of Philadelphia applied for a patent for an artificial freezer that included a tub, cylinder, lid, dasher and crank. This type of device is still widely used today. Italo Marchiony applied for an ice cream cone patent in 1903. And finally, by 1939, grocery stores were carrying commercially produced ice cream, even though most homes couldn't store it.

Okay, here's a cool (pun intended) dinnertime conversation theme: Which well-known political figure from the U.K. helped developed soft serve ice cream? Believe it or not, there is some evidence that the esteemed Margaret Thatcher, former Prime Minister of the U.K., was part of a team of university science majors who developed the technique for whipping air into ice cream, hence producing soft serve. Soft serve ice cream can be made in two ways: by whipping tons of air into the hard version or by using liquefied sweetened milk mixture that is frozen, blended and pumped with air to achieve a soft, silky ice cream. Here is the U.S., two ice cream brands claim to be the first to introduce us to this gooey "must eat it fast" stuff – Dairy Queen and Carvel.

Time is running out, and I haven't even touched on ice cream cakes!

If there is ice cream, then there must also be ice cream sundaes. Buffalo & Ithaca, NY; Evanston, Ill.; Two Rivers, Wisc.; all claim to have been the first to invent the ice cream sundae.

Oh, before I forget, let me touch on the soda fountains that were once a fixture in many drug stores. At the turn of the last century, pharmacists saw a business opportunity with the advent of soda water flavored sweetly. Thus, they installed soda fountain equipment, where they served tall, cool drinks. In 1874, one Robert Green is credited with creating the first ice cream soda to celebrate Philadelphia's sesquicentennial. A personal favorite of mine combines vanilla ice cream with cola.

The popularity of soda fountains can't be overstated. By 1916, there were 100,000 soda fountains in New York City alone. Fast foot outlets replaced the soda fountains and marble counters that were so common in every nook and cranny around our great country. Another lovely institution bit the dust.

But when all is said and done on the history of ice cream, it was really the Italians who in the 17th century blended a frozen dessert that would become gelato for them and ice cream for us. There are differences between these two frozen bits of heaven; basically, the amount of fat, churning processes and temperatures, but the basic idea of ice cream can be granted to those artisans.

A dear friend of mine makes his own ice cream. He uses a machine. But there are numerous methods and recipes available on the Internet that require nothing more than a container with a tight lid.

Making ice cream in your kitchen does mandate a time commitment. So, I've decided that this coming winter when the weather cramps my roving style and forces me to play in my kitchen versus my gardens, I'll take on the challenge of making my own ice cream. It might prove dangerous, especially if I get good at reproducing my favorite food in my own house. I'm willing to chance it because last winter, we purchased a treadmill. Now if I can find a way to eat ice cream while walking on the treadmill, winter won't be nearly so depressing, except when I step on the scale.

The volunteer-led organization that campaigns against fossil fuels was granted a conditional parade permit by the Board of Selectmen on Tuesday night pending approval by the Fire Department. The faith-based group, formally known as the Better Future Project, plans to stop and spend the night in Marion during its Energy Exodus: March From Coal to Cape Wind event that begins later this month.

Ben Thompson, a representative from the Better Future Project, estimated his group's participation in Energy Exodus at 100 to 300 people. The march is slated to begin at the Brayton Point coal plant in Somerset on August 28 and end in Barnstable on September 2. Thompson said the group will stay overnight at St. Gabriel's Church – both inside and on the grounds – while in Marion, which drew concern from the Selectmen, as well as Police Chief Lincoln Miller, particularly when Thompson admitted he has never actually seen the venue.

"You might want to take a look while you're in town tonight," Selectman Steve Cushing said. "It's very small. There is very limited space in the courtyard."

Chairman Jody Dickerson agreed.

"I have no problem with the parade and march in Marion," he said. "But the church is not designed for sleeping quarters. We just want to make sure everyone is safe."

Thompson said that organizers could make the decision to shuttle overflow crowds to churches in New Bedford via 12-passenger vans, but both Miller and the Selectmen lamented the potential problems such a last-minute decision could pose.

"This could be the makings of a disaster, if there is a fire or something like it," said Selectman John Henry, who pushed for an around-the-clock Fire Department presence. "We have a responsibility to the residents of our town."

The officials insisted on improved communication from the Better Future Project, and approved the permit provided Fire Chief Thomas Joyce can work with organizers on a plan.

Elsewhere on the agenda, the Selectmen approved:

Catherine Brodeur's request for a three-year extension on her agriculture license;

Two one-day all-alcohol licenses for the VFW for upcoming parties on August 25 and September 1;

Employment contracts for the Police Chief and Collector/Treasurer.

In addition, Town Administrator Paul Dawson addressed the Old Rochester Regional School District budget, which because of the disparity between expected and actual state funds, will require increased appropriations from Marion and Mattapoisett. Marion's tab will come to roughly an additional $18,000.

Dawson said that officials have planned a "budget summit" for the early fall, to take place among Town Administrators and Finance Committee members from the Tri-Town, as well as Superintendent Doug White.

"It's a chance to think about, to talk about, the process that we're going to use next year," Dawson said. "An open dialogue helping us to see each other's issues and where each other is coming from."

Cushing called the additional $18,000 "not a painless hit," while Dickerson said he wished the ORR administration had listened to Marion's Finance Committee, which advised the school district to not use the more optimistic budget figures.

Two Hearings on Light Agenda

Mattapoisett Zoning Board of Appeals

By Marilou Newell

Mattapoisett's Zoning Board of Appeals made short work of the two hearings that came before the members last night.

The first application was from Brian and Susan Kvilhaug of 2 Beech Tree Lane. The Kvilhaugs had completed major renovations to the basement of the residence without seeking any permits for electrical, plumbing and interior renovations that ultimately changed the basement into a family apartment.

Building Inspector Andrew Bobola asked the Board to amend the applicants' application from basement renovations to a "family-related" apartment. The Board accepted the request of both the applicants and the Building Inspector, voting to approve the amended application.

The only other hearing was for Earl Scott of 44 Brandt Beach Avenue to modify a non-conforming structure. He requested permission to remove and reconstruct an outbuilding. This was easily approved, with no issues.

The next meeting of the Mattapoisett Zoning Board of Appeals is scheduled for September 19.

Big Help Coming for Zoning Bylaws

Mattapoisett Planning Board

By Marilou Newell

Mattapoisett's Planning Board had only one item on its agenda: a meeting with Sandy Conaty, Comprehensive Planning Manager from SRPEDD. But this meeting is perhaps the beginning of massive zoning changes that will shape the complexion of Mattapoisett for decades to come.

The Board had submitted their comprehensive master plan to SRPEDD to get "the ball rolling, to get the road map started," Chairman Tom Tucker said.

Mattapoisett had applied for and received grant money to work with SRPEDD to get expert assistance as the Planning Board and other entities move forward in shaping the future of Mattapoisett land use.

Noting that the present zoning bylaws are a patchwork quilt that has been added to over time, inhibiting the public's ability to easily and clearly understand the objective of any bylaw, Board member Ron Merlo said, "I have a concern that, through the ages, things have been put on and put on and put on ... things need to be cleaned up. I'd like to see some administrative assistance to make things easier to use."

He added that, oftentimes, residents and others have to go back and forth between various boards charged with handling zoning issues, and he felt the town could do a much better job for the public and the necessary improvements the town needs in the future.

Conaty said she had started going through the housing bylaws and the five-year update of priority protection areas, but had not yet tackled review of the master plan. She was aware of the effort the town has put into trying to secure public opinion on the future of open space and recreational areas. She will be looking at bylaws that will help the town address diverse land use needs.

Several members said that the lack of zoning bylaws for utilities like solar and wind need to be addressed so that they wouldn't be blindsided, as they were when a telecommunication tower slid past their purview.

Conaty asked if the Board members had studied zoning bylaws from other towns to acquaint themselves with what is working well in those locations. None had to date, but thought that might be a good starting point. Dartmouth, Conaty said, used a good model for zoning with the establishment of sectors. She said that each zoning sector simply had to look at the packet for that specific type of permitting to know what the town would require, rather than skipping from one board to another asking if their involvement was needed in the process.

"If your property is in the business district, that's all you need to look at," Conaty said.

Board member Karen Field said, "I think people move to Mattapoisett for its quaintness, its schools; it's a special space," intimating that Dartmouth's land use might not work well for Mattapoisett. Conaty assured her that she was not recommending their bylaws or zoning districts but their format, which may be useful.

"I've been wondering about signage," Member Mary Crain said. It was pointed out that depending on where the sign is proposed, or the use of the location, dictated the type of sign that would be allowed. However, one has to skip around the bylaws to ascertain what the requirements are. This was one example of the present convoluted condition of the zoning bylaws.

Merlo commented, "Things like that are missing, and it's a great opportunity to incorporate things."

Conaty said another item that might be beneficial was a table for parking requirements. She pointed to Seekonk as a town that had done a good job in making parking requirements clear.

Tucker suggested that the public be made aware of the process and the assistance that SRPEDD will be providing through this grant. Member John Mathieu said that one bylaw at a time should be tackled in upcoming meetings, rather than trying to attack everything all at once. Tucker said he wanted to give the public ample opportunity to understand the work at hand, the importance of their input, in the hope that by doing so, residents won't feel left out of the process and would actually come forward and participate.

Conaty said it's vitally important that the public understand SRPEDD is not writing bylaws but instead assisting in format changes that will make the bylaws easier to understand and work with. She said she would submit a process flowchart with deliverables and goals so that everyone could work toward better bylaws.

Time once again became the enemy, as the Board looked at how to pack in public hearings by December. The deadline for using the grant money and completing the work is December 31.

The public will be invited to participate in a "Framework Meeting" on September 16 to kick off the review of the town's zoning bylaws. The first meeting will give the Board the opportunity to show the public an overview of the entire process and what zoning bylaws will be addressed at each subsequent meeting until all had been reviewed and rewritten in the updated format. In this way, people with only interest or special interest in specific bylaws need not necessarily attend all the public meetings; just those they were most interested in.

"SRPEDD will make recommendations ... on what the Planning Board can do to improve the layout of the bylaw, with better continuity of the bylaw," Conaty said. "Overall, to make it more understandable."

The Planning Board discussed ways to engage the public, noting that the poor showing thus far to an invitation to take the land use survey online was dismal at best. To date, only 60 residents have completed the survey. Public hearing notices will be sent to local newspapers and possibly fliers left in public locations. Engaging the public to solicit their opinion on the future of Mattapoisett's land use continues to be an ongoing struggle, but has been deemed necessary for the future health of the community. The survey can be found on the town's website at www.mattapoisett.net.

Officials Struggle for Solar Solidarity

Marion Planning Board

By Shawn Badgley

With Town Counsel Jon Witten and Building Commissioner Scott Shippey in attendance to help navigate them through the working language of a bylaw intended for fall Town Meeting, the Marion Planning Board and Energy Management Committee met for another two and a half hours on Monday night to hammer out a policy on solar installations.

Chair Patricia McArdle and former Chair Jay Ryder – extolled the “common ground” officials from the two entities had reached on guidelines for general-use ground-mounted residential installations after months of deliberations, infighting, and a divisive spring Town Meeting, a sticking point on regulations for solar farms in residential districts continued to stick.

Those regulations, as currently written in the potential bylaw, would allow landowners in residential districts to install extensive arrays on property greater than three acres with setbacks of at least 100 feet, with the purpose of selling back solar energy to the power grid. They would require a special permit and major site plan

“Solar farms by their nature are commercial projects,” said Planning Board Member Ted North, arguing that an alteration of zoning policy could be problematic for future governance and detrimental for property values. “There’s no difference between solar energy generation and small industrial gas turbines.”

“I completely disagree,” EMC Member Jennifer Francis responded. “It’s much less intrusive than what you’re talking about. It’s a totally different animal.”

Planning Board Vice Chair Stephen Kokkins reminded the parties about the possibility of separating the solar farm portion from the rest of the Solar Bylaw, while Ryder made the case for discarding it altogether.

“We’re biting off more than we can chew,” Ryder said. “We have come so far with the Energy Management Committee, and now we’re starting to muddy the water a little bit. It’s really important that the EMC and Planning Board are together on this bylaw. I think we’re getting a little far afield in discussing solar farms.”

As he would all evening, Planning Board Member Norm Hills, also an EMC member and solar advocate, disagreed with Ryder’s view, as well as that of Kokkins and North, while Planning Board members Steve Gonsalves, Rico Ferrari, and McArdle maintained a neutral position in advance of a Public Hearing on Sept. 3.

As it stands, officials will present three options that night: The Solar Bylaw including the solar farm portion as is; the Solar Bylaw including the solar portion with a provision for a "surgical" zoning overlay allowing for solar farms in specifically designated areas within residential districts (a proposition that EMC member Bill Saltonstall balked at, noting that it would be unfair to present such a plan without first drawing up an overlay); and the Solar Bylaw excluding the solar farm portion.

To the Editor:

Harbor Days is the Mattapoisett Lions Club's largest fundraising event of the year. The success of Harbor Days is the result of an amazing team effort by volunteers from other Lions Clubs, members of the community, members of the Women's Club, and the generosity of our host, the town of Mattapoisett (and I mean the entire town). The cooperation and support of Chief Andy Murray and the Fire Department, Chief Mary Lyons and the Police Department, Horace Field the Harbormaster, fellow Lion Barry Denham and the Highway Department, Andy Bobola and the Building Department, Dale Barrows and the Board of Health, the Board of Selectmen, the ORR Football Team and Swim Team, the Boy Scouts, and the residents of the town of Mattapoisett, who tolerate and enjoy Harbor Days, is critical to the success of this event. Thank you all!

Because of the success of Harbor Days, Mattapoisett Lions Club will be able to continue to provide support for community projects, as well as Lion's charities.

however, not everyone knows some of the more heartwarming stories that happened this year. I would like to share a few with you:

Wednesday night, we served strawberry shortcake during the band concert in the gazebo. A gentleman came in and ordered two strawberry shortcakes and four tickets to the lobster dinner. The bill came to $80 and he gave us two $100 bills and told us to keep the change.

Saturday night after the Lobster Dinner, we showed a movie under the big tent. A gentleman approached and asked how much for the big (four-foot high) bag of popcorn. I looked at the crowd and figured we could sell about 30 small bags for $1 each, so I told him $30. He bought the bag and gave it all away to those in attendance. He was a member of another Lions Club in a city in Massachusetts and wanted to show his support for our club.

There was a family visiting the United States for the very first time from Norway: a mom and her two teenage daughters. The mom came up to me and told me her father was a Lion in Norway and had given her some decorative Lions pins to exchange with ours.

Stories like this make all the hard work worthwhile and make the aches and pains fade a little faster. If anyone is interested in joining our team, you can reach us by email at mattlionsclub@gmail.com.

You have the right in Massachusetts to go to any licensed and bonded auto body repair shop of your choice. Collision Services of Marion, Inc. is licensed and bonded. We work with all insurance companies, for the hourly rate they pay.

Are they intimidating you, telling you they will not guarantee the repairs unless you go to one of their referral shops?

Collision Services of Marion, Inc. guarantees all repairs. Referral shops repair cars for the insurance. We repair the car for you.

So, tell your insurance company no thank you, I'm going to go to Collision Services of Marion, Inc. There are insurance companies in Massachusetts that feel they are the biggest lion in the jungle. If you feel that you are being intimidated by the insurance company, or that the referral body shop did inferior work, stop by Collision Services of Marion and ask for the LION HUNTER!

Tri-Town Student Honors and Awards

Aidan St. James of Rochester was recently recognized for achieving academic distinction at the University of Massachusetts-Lowell. St. James, majoring in plastics engineering, was named to the dean's list at UMass Lowell for the spring 2013 semester.

To qualify for the dean's list at UMass Lowell, a student must have completed no fewer than 12 graded credits for the semester and earned at least a 3.25 grade point average with no grade lower than C and without any incompletes.

Kaitlyn M. Psychojos of Marion earned dean's list honors at Saint Joseph's University for the spring 2013 semester. Kaitlyn is majoring in art at the University. Students must achieve a grade point average of 3.5 or above, a B or greater in all their classes, and complete at least 15 credits to earn dean's list status for a semester.

Mattapoisett YMCA to Host Clam Boil

The Mattapoisett YMCA will host a Clam Boil by the Sea on Saturday, September 21 from 5:30 to 9:30 pm at their 38 Reservation road location. Dinner will be served on the porch overlooking the beautiful Mattapoisett harbor, and proceeds from the event will benefit the Y Cares Annual Fund.

"The Clam Boil by the Sea is one of the Mattapoisett YMCA's major annual events, and all funds raised from this event are vital to making sure the Y is accessible to all," according to Joseph Marciszyn, Executive Director of the Mattapoisett YMCA.

The Clam Boil by the Sea is designed to be a community-building event. The Mattapoisett YMCA is the perfect place to bring friends to share lobster and enjoy the seashore. This traditional New England clam boil with be prepared by John Saunders and will include lobster and chowder while overlooking the scenic Mattapoisett Harbor. Local musician Scott Parker is scheduled to play at the event.

The evening will also include tours of the Mattapoisett YMCA, cash bar, and a silent auction

The program will give teenagers ages 13-18 the opportunity to learn the art of ghost hunting and the tricks and secrets behind this paranormal sleuthing. Teens will also learn about local ghost legends and will put their knowledge to use on a one-of-a-kind ghost hunt throughout the Mattapoisett Library itself.

The event is free, but registration is required, as the event is dependent on at least 10 participants. If you have any questions or would like to sign up, you can contact the library at 508-758-4171 or by emailing Liz Sherry at esherry@sailsinc.org

Last Tuesday of the Month Free Movie

On Tuesday, August 27 at 12:00 pm, the Mattapoisett Friends of the Elderly hosts a free showing of Quartet at the Council on Aging. Pizza is available for $2. Pizza requests must be pre-paid by Monday, August 26 at 3:00 pm. Please RVSP the Mattapoisett Council on Aging at the Center School, 17 Barstow Street, or call 508-758-4110, even if you're not having pizza, so we know how many seats to set up.

Quartet (PG-13, 98 min.) is directed by Dustin Hoffman. The story revolves around the residents of Beecham House, a retirement home for gifted musicians. Finances threaten to close the home, but a yearly gala concert on Verdi's birthday provides some hope for keeping the place open. The recording, by former operatic colleagues Reg, Wilf and Cissy, of Rigoletto, is very prominent as the Rigoletto of the postwar era. A new resident is Jean Horton, the soprano of the Rigoletto recording. Will the famous quartet be able to patch up their differences in time for Beecham House's gala concert? Can the passage of time heal old wounds?

West Nile Virus Advisory

The Marion Rochester Regional Health District would like to remind residents that we are in peak conditions for mosquito activity. The Department of Public Health has reported that mosquitoes infected with West Nile Virus are circulating throughout the state, and are not confined to the towns where the mosquitoes have been found. Please remember to wear mosquito repellent to help reduce exposure to mosquito bites.

Residents are also encouraged to: drain buckets, barrels, tarps, and wheel barrows to avoid water accumulation; change water twice a week in bird baths and outdoor pet water dishes; keep rain gutters clean of debris; check children's outdoor toys for water accumulation.

Please feel free to contact the Marion Rochester Boards of Health if you have any questions.

ORR Announcements

Mattapoisett Library Memoir Class

Ready to write your family stories or memories to share and preserve? Need a little help getting started? Sign up for the free workshop facilitated by writer and poet Verandah Porche, taking place at the library, in collaboration with the Council on Aging, on Friday, August 23, beginning at 10:30 am. The workshop includes writing suggestions to begin the process, helpful tips and more. Lunch is included, and the program concludes at 2:30 pm.

Verandah Porche works as a poet-in-residence, performer and writing partner. She has published Suddenly Eden (verdant Books) and Glancing Off (See Through Books) and has pursued an alternative literary career, creating collaborative writing projects in non-traditional settings.

She has read her work on NPR stations, in the Vermont State house and at the John Simon Guggenheim Museum. The Vermont Arts Council presented her with its Award of Merit in 1998, and Marlboro College, an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters in 2012.

Please call the library at 508-758-4171 to sign up or register with the Mattapoisett Council on Aging. This program is supported with funding from The Phyllis McGillicuddy Charitable Trust.

Elizabeth Taber Library News

It's time to rediscover your library at an Open House: August 22, 4:00 to 6:00 pm. Come celebrate Elizabeth Taber's 222nd birthday and find out that many things have changed in the library since last you visited us.

There will be light refreshments, arts and crafts for the children, and a chance to meet our new Library Director, Libby O'Neill.

Checking out e-books and audiobooks through the Library: Do you have an e-reader and are unsure of how to check out e-books and audiobooks through the SAILS library network? If so, this workshop is for you. The Elizabeth Taber Library will be hosting a workshop on Tuesday, August 27 at 11:00 am, where you will learn how to search for e-books or audiobooks online, put an item on hold, and check out free materials from the library. Please call the Elizabeth Taber Library to register at 508-748-1252, and please bring your e-reader with you.

MOVIE REVIEW

Super Girl

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

Kick-Ass 2. Starring Aaron Taylor-Johnson and Chloe Grace Moretz. Directed by Jeff Wadlow. Running time: 103 minutes. MPAA rating: R.

The problem with being shocking is that you can only shock once. 2010's Kick-Ass packed a fair amount of shock for those who hadn't read the comic book it was based on. Here was a high-school boy, Dave Lizewski (Aaron Johnson), who took to the streets in costume as the self-styled superhero Kick-Ass and found that fighting crime was grubbier and bloodier than it usually was in the comics. Here also was an eleven-year-old moppet, Hit Girl (Chloe Grace Moretz), who rattled off unprintables and drenched entire rooms with the arterial spray of gangsters. The whole affair was a winking satire of what the superhero genre had become, in comics and in the movies.

But, again, this sort of thing can only be fresh once. The Kick-Ass comic's creators — writer Mark Millar, artist John Romita Jr. — turned out two sequels to the first series (Hit Girl and Kick-Ass 2), and are currently cranking out a third. The comics, trying to top the original story, have gotten progressively nastier. The movie Kick-Ass 2, based on elements drawn from the first two follow-ups, softens those elements considerably. Gone, for instance, is a scene in which Kick-Ass' nemesis (Christopher Mintz-Plasse), who went by Red Mist in the first film but has rechristened himself an Oedipal twelve-letter word best omitted from these pages, guns down four little kids and goes on to rape Kick-Ass' girlfriend. The movie, showing more satirical wit than Mark Millar did, short-circuits the rape before it begins, and no little kids are harmed. In some ways the movie is more ruthless: the Oedipal twelve-letter word will not be back for Kick-Ass 3.

Written and directed by Jeff Wadlow, Kick-Ass 2 does deliver spatially clean action set-pieces that build nicely and sometimes, as when a fearsome brute called Mother Russia deals with a pack of cops, outdo what John Romita Jr. drew. The Kick-Ass movies have also succeeded in attracting eccentric stars for support: the first film had Nicolas Cage as Hit Girl's doting superhero dad, and here we have Jim Carrey, obviously enjoying himself at the time despite his post-Sandy Hook misgivings later, as a superhero team leader named Colonel Stars and Stripes. Carrey satirizes this gravel-voiced born-again-Christian hero but doesn't ridicule him — in his way, the Colonel is a man of honor trying to redeem his past as a mob enforcer. When Carrey leaves the movie, a substantial amount of energy goes with him.

The movie is most interesting when Hit Girl, now living with a cop guardian and trying very hard to be a nice girl named Mindy Macready, navigates the social pitfalls of high school (she's fifteen now). Hit Girl has always been a bit softer onscreen than on the page, because Chloe Moretz projects the warmth and charisma denied her comic-book predecessor, and she's fun to watch here when trying to cope with mean girls in the cafeteria. The least interesting character continues to be poor benighted Kick-Ass himself, who functions here only as a target for the Oedipal twelve-letter word's vengeful fury. He often gets lost in the crowd — many of the folks on the Colonel's team, like Night Bitch (Lindy Booth) or the parents looking for their missing son, are far more intriguing. They do it, like Batman, out of pain; Kick-Ass didn't.

The Kick-Ass franchise has been a reliable piggybank for Millar and Romita, though it might not look as bright on Universal's books — Kick-Ass 2 doesn't seem to be packing 'em in on its first weekend, and might peter out much as the Oedipal twelve-letter word does. The comics haven't been particularly inspiring either — just more of the same foul language and slice 'n' dice and political correctness used as a piñata. Some things just shouldn't be ongoing concerns, and perhaps the satirical world of Kick-Ass is one of them. The first Kick-Ass comic and the first Kick-Ass movie said that the concept of superheroes is absurd, an idealistic bubble that pops bloodily against the sharp edges of reality. Once you've said that, what can you say that isn't merely saying it again louder?

TriTOWN HAPPENINGS

Rochester Country Fair 2013

The Showstoppers – the Tri-Town's community-service singing troupe – performed at the Waterside Stage in Downtown Disney World to a packed crowd and standing ovation on Aug. 8. The members, who range in age from 6 to 19, also participated in a Disney Performing Arts Workshop. Photo courtesy Kelly Zucco.

Two former ORR youth lacrosse players, Connor Severino (left) and Owen Smith, had the privilege of representing Next Level Lacrosse (Smithfield, RI) in the Under 15 U.S. Lacrosse National Championships held at the Wide World of Sports complex in Walt Disney World. The event comprises the best U15 Club lacrosse programs in the country vying for the prestigious title. The team made it to the quarterfinals of championship play before surrendering a hard fought battle to Duke HHH. Among the many highlights was beating L.I. Express Piranhas, Long Island, NY (Mecca of LAX) in regional competition. Both players will be going from teammates to rivals as each will be representing their respective High Schools (ORR & Dartmouth) come this fall, but they still remain great friends! Obituaries:

Sandra W. (Kuechler) Perkins, 76, of Mattapoisett died August 15, 2013 peacefully at St. Luke's Hospital.

She was the wife of Peter B. Perkins.

Born in New Bedford, the daughter of the late Walter and Marion S. (Whiting) Kuechler) she was raised in Fairhaven and lived in Mattapoisett for many years.

She was formerly employed as a secretary at Old Rochester Regional High School for several years.

Sandra's love of boating began while sailing her beetle cat, Kue San, on the waters of the New Bedford Fairhaven harbor in front of her childhood home. She continued her love of boating as she and her husband Peter joined friends Harold and Phyllis Magee and Peter and Ann Briggs along the New England shores crewing on their boats.

A tour of Sandra's gardens was a treat to fellow gardeners and people just walking by her yard. She loved planting special new young plants among her well established beauties. Sandra's love of tradition glowed at Yuletide when she and Peter set up their extensive Christmas Village throughout the rooms and up the stairs bringing delight to every viewer. The door at 21 North St. was always exquisite, usually using many plant materials. Her beautifully wrapped gift was a gift in itself.

Sandra was a graduate of Fairhaven High School and Colby Sawyer College. She was a member of the Cushing Cemetery Board of Trustees for many years.

Survivors include her husband; a son, David Perkins and his wife Bodil of Mattapoisett; a daughter, Heidi Zenie and her partner Charles Demorest of Killingworth, CT; 5 grandchildren, Peter, Haakon and Adam Perkins, Katelyn and Matthew Zenie; and numerous nieces and nephews.

She was the sister of the late Kurt Kuechler.

Private arrangements are with the Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County Rd., Route 6, Mattapoisett. In lieu of flowers, remembrances may be made to the Cushing Cemetery, P.O. Box 1013, Mattapoisett, MA 02739. For on-line guestbook, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

Donald Medeiros, 80, of Rochester died August 16, 2013 at Massachusetts General Hospital after a brief illness.

He was the husband of Manuela M. (Almeida) Medeiros.

Born in New Bedford, the son of the late Joseph and Belmira (Cordeiro) Medeiros, he was raised in Fairhaven and lived in Rochester for the last 40 years.

Mr. Medeiros was formerly self-employed as a crane operator and a member of I.U.O.E. Local #4 for over 50 years.

He served in the U.S. Army during the Korean War.

Survivors include his wife; his 4 children, Steven Medeiros and his wife Donna of Rochester, Susan Manzi of New Bedford, Donald Medeiros, Jr. and his wife Linda of Acushnet and Christie Marotta and her husband Christopher of Rochester; 2 sisters; 2 brothers; 8 grandchildren, 2 great-grandchildren; and numerous nieces and nephews.

His Funeral Mass was celebrated on Tuesday in St. John Neumann Church. Burial followed in North Rochester Cemetery. Visiting hours were held Monday in the Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County St., Route 6, Mattapoisett. In lieu of flowers, remembrances may be made to the charity of one's choice. For on-line condolence book, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

Susan E. (Collins) McKay, 90, of Acushnet passed away August 17, 2013 at New Bedford Health Care Center. She was the widow of Louis W. McKay, Sr.

Mrs. McKay was born in Dartmouth, daughter of the late William C. and Florence A. (Demoranville) Collins, and resided in Acushnet most of her life. She was a member of the First Congregational Church of Rochester. She was a member of the Rochester Congregational Ladies Guild. She enjoyed duckpin bowling and arts & crafts.

Survivors include 3 daughters: Linda S. Wales of Acushnet, Karen E. Hooley of Rochester and Diane R. Poulin of Rochester; 3 sons: Louis W. McKay, Jr. of Brooksville, FL, Donald G. McKay of Fairhaven and Barry T. McKay of Acushnet; 13 grandchildren; 4 great-grandchildren; 1 great great-granddaughter; and several nieces & nephews.

She was mother of the late Russell D. McKay, grandmother of the late Sharon Vaughan and sister of the late Verna Holstius and Avis McConville.

The family wishes to thank the staff of New Bedford Health Care for their kindness and loving care.

Relatives and friends are invited to attend: Visiting hours on Tuesday, August 20, 2013, 5:00-8:00 P.M. at the Kirby Funeral Home, 61 Tarkiln Hill Road, New Bedford.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, August 21, 2013 at the funeral home.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to Beacon Hospice Inc., 182 North Main St., Fall River, MA 02720. Interment in Acushnet Cemetery, Acushnet.

Helen R. Dahill, 99, passed away August 17, 2013 quietly at her home in Harbor Beach, Mattapoisett MA after a long and full life. Born in Dorchester, MA she was the eldest child of Edward & Margaret (Shortell) Dahill. One of 5 children, Helen grew up in Taunton, MA and graduated from Taunton

High School and Framingham State College. She then embarked on a career as an educator at Taunton High School, where she taught Home Economics for 30 years. For many of those years she also supervised the cafeteria and developed a School Lunch Program that was widely copied throughout the state.

She is survived by her sisters Marybeth Dahill of Mattapoisett, MA, Patricia DuBois of West Wareham, MA and Sister Margaret Imelda Dahill of Puebla, Mexico, along with numerous nieces, nephews and their children. She was preceded in death by her brothers Edward Dahill of Provincetown, MA and Arthur Dahill of South Yarmouth, MA.

Helen loved to laugh, travel, cook, and spoil her 11 nieces and nephews and their offspring- which she did at every opportunity. Helen was a woman of strong opinions, which she was not loth to share with those within earshot. She made the world a better place by being in it; she will be fondly remembered, and missed.

Her Funeral Mass was celebrated at St. Anthony's Church in Mattapoisett, MA on August 20th, 2013. Internment was at a private service in Taunton, MA. Arrangements are with the Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County St., Route 6, Mattapoisett. For on-line condolence book, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

TRITOWN HAPPENINGS

Hundreds of spectators lined the streets for the Rochester Country Fair Parade on Sunday morning. The event – which was as much a spectacle as ever despite changes to its format – boasted 52 farm tractors, several floats, classic cars, a go-cart, a military jeep, and numerous other vehicles. Photos by Felix Perez and Nick Walecka.

Young People's Theater (ages 10-14): September 5 to November 14; Thursdays, 4:00 to 5:30 pm. Students will learn basic theater craft through improvisation exercises, theater games, and the process of putting on a production through selection, rehearsal and production of a small show presented at the end of the session. Kimberly Teves, instructor. The fee for the 10-week session is $170 for MAC members and $185 for non-members.

Preschool Piano (age 3-5 years): September 21 to December 7; 25-minute private lessons for children ages 3 to 5. Friday mornings at the Marion Art Center. $20 per lesson (includes cost of music/materials/recital).

Little Mozart's Preschool Piano is an early music enrichment program for children, ages 3 to 5. Lessons are designed to introduce children to the piano and teach basic foundation skills that will inspire an early appreciation for music. Individual lessons place an emphasis on rhythm, finger position, music vocabulary, music notation, note reading and encourage overall fine motor development. It is offered 3 times per year at the Marion Art Center for 10-week sessions during the fall (September to December), winter/spring (January to April), and summer (July to August) Each session concludes with a short recital. Children may repeat sessions through age 5, to enhance their knowledge and performance skills.

TriTOWN HAPPENINGS

The Marion Art Center staged the "Stars & Stripes Forever Musical Revue" last weekend to packed crowds. The rousing show mimicked a USO event, with the audience being entertained as the "troops." The production featured the "Swanson Sisters from Sheboygan: Dixie, Trixie & Pixie," (played by Caroline Blaise, Pam Breton, and Denise Bastos) and was hosted by the hilariously funny "Frankie B. Sharpe" (played by Eric Bosworth). The MAC theatre was set up cabaret style, and guests brought their own refreshments. Photos by Felix Perez

Slocum Rowing & Paddling Festival

On Saturday, September 21, Dartmouth's Slocum River will once again come alive with activity as rowers and paddlers from all over New England converge for the eighth running of the popular Slocum Challenge, known locally as "Southeastern New England's Fall Rowing & Paddling Festival." Races will start promptly at 9:30 am and finish near the Lloyd Center's waterfront facility, at the mouth of the Slocum River, traversing a two-mile closed-loop course on the tidal waters of one of New England's most beautiful estuaries.

The regatta is open to racing shells, open-water shells, kayaks, canoes, surf-skis, traditional rowing boats, whaleboats, pilot gigs and stand-up paddleboards, with separate age categories for competitors under 20, over 50, and over 65, all in Men's, Women's and "Mixed" (co-ed) divisions.

As always, the emphasis of the regatta will be on good fun and enjoyment of the scenic Slocum River. A light post-race lunch will be provided at the Awards Ceremony, immediately following the races at the Lloyd Center's headquarters at 430 Potomska Road, Dartmouth.

For guaranteed acceptance, entry applications (available soon at the Lloyd Center and rowing, kayak and canoe centers throughout New England) must be received no later than 5:00 pm on Tuesday, September 17 (25 percent surcharge for entries received after 5:00 pm, September 17). All competitors whose entry application

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Impatience with those who don't keep up with you can cause resistance, which, in turn, can lead to more delays. Best to be helpful and supportive if you want results.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A surprise announcement from a colleague could put you on the defensive. Gather your facts and respond. You'll soon find the situation shifting in your favor.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Time spent away from a project pays off with a new awareness of options you hadn't considered before. Weigh them carefully before deciding which to choose.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Consider confronting that personal conflict while there's still time to work things out. A delay can cause more problems. A longtime colleague might offer to mediate.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Some emerging matters could impede the Lion's progress in completing an important project. Best advice: Deal with them now, before they can create costly delays.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Your aspect continues to favor an expanding vista. This could be a good time to make a career move, and taking an out-of-town job could be a good way to do it.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Disruptive family disputes need to be settled so that everyone can move on. Avoid assuming this burden alone, though. Ask for -- no, demand -- help with this problem.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Patience is called for as you await word on an important workplace situation. A personal circumstance, however, could benefit by your taking immediate action.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Don't lose confidence in yourself. Those doubters are likely to back off if you demand they show solid proof why they think your ideas won't work.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A temporary setback might cause the usually sure-footed Goat some unsettling moments. But keep going. The path ahead gets easier as you move forward.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) There's welcome news from the workplace. There also could be good news involving a relationship that has long held a special meaning for you.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You might still need to cut some lingering ties to a situation that no longer has the appeal it once held. In the meantime, you can start to explore other opportunities.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your sense of what's right can inspire others if you remember not to push too hard to make your case. Moderation works best for you.

Mosquito Information From Mattapoisett

On August 2, the Board of Health was notified of a mosquito testing positive for West Nile virus in Mattapoisett. The Mattapoisett Board of Health wants to remind residents that people have an important role to play in protecting themselves and their loved ones from illnesses caused by mosquitoes.

The public can take simple and effective prevention steps to reduce the chance of being bitten by mosquitoes.

Be Aware of Peak Mosquito Hours: The hours from dusk to dawn are peak biting times for many mosquitoes. Consider rescheduling outdoor activities that occur during evening or early morning.

Clothing Can Help Reduce Mosquito Bites:

Wearing long sleeves, long pants and socks when outdoors will help keep mosquitoes away from your skin.

Apply Insect Repellent When Outdoors: Use a repellent with DEET, permethrin, picaridin, oil of lemon eucalyptus. DEET products should not be used on infants under two months of age and should be used in concentrations of 30 percent or less on older children. Oil of lemon eucalyptus should not be used on children under three years of age.

Drain Standing Water: Mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water. Limit the number of places around your home for mosquitoes to breed by either draining or discarding items that hold water. Check rain gutters and drains. Empty any unused flowerpots and wading pools, and change water in birdbaths frequently.

Install or Repair Screens: Keep mosquitoes outside by having tight-fitting screens on all on your windows and doors.

the workshop will meet each day at the Art Center in the morning, paint for 3-4 hours and then break and meet again in the afternoon. For more details and to register, please call the Marion Art Center at 508-748-1266.

Arthur Kvarnstrom is a New York artist who has exhibited extensively in New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania, most recently at the Marion Art Center in Marion; in 2011 at the Englewood Public Library, Englewood, New Jersey; in 2010 at the Antoine Dutot Museum and Gallery, Delaware Water Gap, Pennsylvania; and in 2008 at the Prince Street Gallery in New York City.

Kvarnstrom feels that "Each person is uniquely individual, possessing a singular experience of the world exclusive to him or her. Painting makes it possible to explore and communicate this experience. Giving voice to this individual experience constitutes true creativity." He feels that his role as a teacher is to draw upon his years as a painter to guide and encourage each class participant in finding his or her individual voice.

His teaching proceeds from the premise that we learn to paint by painting. This includes a belief in the efficacy of painting directly, relying on observation to form and explore relationships of paint, color, form, space, shape and line. These elements constitute the language of painting. The relationships formed are the means of expression.

No two people will utilize the same elements or

Rochester Cultural Council Membership

The Rochester Cultural Council is seeking volunteers to serve on the Council, which is responsible for issuing grants for local arts, humanities and interpretive science projects in Rochester and surrounding communities. According to outgoing Council Chairman Robert Barboza, there are several vacancies on the Council that need to be filled this fall.

The Rochester Cultural Council is part of a grassroots network of 329 local councils that serve every city and town in the state. The state legislature provides an annual appropriation to the Massachusetts Cultural Council, which then allocates funds to each local council. Each fall, schools, libraries and community organizations are invited to submit grant applications to the Council to fund arts programs, public performances and events related to the humanities and sciences.

Grants awarded by the council last year included support for the Plumb Library's summer reading program, the Rochester Country Fair, a historical fashion exhibit by the Rochester Historical Society, and entertainment for volunteer appreciation day at the Rochester Council on Aging. Regional arts organizations receiving grants included the Tri-County Music Association, the Acushnet Classical Ensemble and the South Coast Children's Chorus.

"The volunteers on the Rochester Cultural Council are a great group of people who really enjoy supporting arts and culture in town, and programs of interest to both children and adults," Barboza said. "We look forward to welcoming some new members to the Council; anyone interested in the arts should apply."

The Cultural Council generally meets twice a year on weekday evenings to review grant applications and approve awards. Anyone interested in serving on the Council should send a letter of interest to the Rochester Cultural Council, 1 Constitution Way, Rochester, MA. Application letters will be forwarded to the Board of Selectmen, the appointing authority for Council members.

Eligibility guidelines and application forms for 2014 grants from the Rochester Cultural Council are available online at www.mass-culture.org. The deadline for applications for 2014 grants is October 15.

Southcoast Blood Bank Needs Type O Blood

The Southcoast Blood Bank at St. Luke's Hospital is in urgent need of Type O blood and asks the community to donate blood to help build up the supply. Type O blood is used in emergency situations when the blood type of the patient is unknown. In the summer, people are more active, which leads to an increased number of bicycle, motorcycle, boating and pedestrian accidents. At the same time, blood donations are much lower during the summer months because so many people are on vacation or are busy with other summertime activities. As a direct result, Type O blood is at critically low levels and is in need of replenishment. As always, all blood types are welcome and are greatly appreciated at Southcoast.

Southcoast Blood Bank has updated their donating requirements to make donating more convenient. Under the updated requirements, only one photo ID is required and the deferral period for donors with new tattoos has been eliminated for those individuals who received their tattoo from a state regulated entity with sterile one-time use needles and non-reused ink. For those who are unsure if they meet this requirement, the 12-month deferral period will still apply. The updated regulations continue to meet all FDA and AABB donor guidelines.

You have a choice! Donate local. The Southcoast Blood Bank is the only blood donation venue that directly supports the South Coast communities' blood supply. When you donate blood at a Southcoast-sponsored blood drive, you are helping to keep your local blood supply strong – so it is there when you need it.

You can donate at Community Blood Drives; Southcoast hosts blood drives throughout the region on the Southcoast Health Van and at local businesses. To schedule a free blood drive, please call Catherine Alegria, Southcoast Blood Donor Coordinator, at 508-993-0430 or by email at alegriac@southcoast.org. Individuals can also donate at the Southcoast Blood Bank located at St. Luke's Hospital, 101 Page Street, New Bedford, off the main lobby. Walk-ins are welcome Monday through Friday from 8:00 am to 4:00 pm, Wednesdays 9:00 am to 7:00 pm, and Saturdays from 8:00 am to 2:30 pm. The Southcoast Blood Bank will be closed on August 10. We apologize for the inconvenience. For more information, or to make an appointment, call 508-961-5320 or visit www.southcoast.org/bloodbank.

I Found the Aardvark!

Each week, hidden somewhere in the pages of The Wanderer is a tiny drawing of an aardvark. The little guy you are looking for looks exactly like the one pictured above (but don't put down this page as your answer, there's another one hidden somewhere in this issue).

Once you find the aardvark you can submit your answer online and if you are right you will get Aardvark Points! You can then use these points to get cool Aardvark Prizes!

To enter visit: www.wanderer.com and Click on I Found the Aardvark

In the August 15, 2013 issue the Aardvark was on page 9!
